

Sharm El Sheikh, Red Sea, Egypt Fundiving Sharm el-Sheikh

The diving

Many years ago the first divers took the long trip through the Sinai Desert in order to explore some of the best diving on the planet. They found several bays on the southern tip - one named Naama Bay. Here the diving was so pristine and the animal life so rich and with such a variation that they settled down. And in the years to come a massive dive tourism industry grew up here. and for good reason, the diving is top range!

Today Naama Bay has one of the highest rate of passing divers on the planet, and lots of tourists check in on one of the many hotels every day. The diving is no longer as it was in the early pioneer days, but by using a day boat, it is still possible to enjoy the splendid logistics and access really great diving. If you like to combine your diving with the delights of sun, desert and Egyptian tourism at its best, Sharm is an easy place to go to.

The diving is just around the corner so within very short time, the cosy dive boat can bring you on top of crystal clear dive sites.

Boat diving trips are made daily so you can visit famous dive sites of Ras Mohamed and the straits of Tiran. It is also possible to dive a few famous wrecks on our daily trips like; The Dunraven (circa 1860) with its strange secrets or the world war II wreck Thistlegorm.

This is only a selection of the many dive sites represented on this particular destination. The diving is dictated by the safeness of the environment.

Ras Mohammed

The Ras Mohammed National Park became a Protected Area in 1983. It contains spectacular dive sites, several of which are considered to be among the Top 10 dives worldwide.

Dive sites here offer an abundance of hard and soft corals, and marine life. In summer in particular, the area attracts spawning schools of pelagic fish. Many of the Park's beaches are turtle nesting grounds.

Yolanda Reef and Wreck

This is the richest coral garden in Ras Mohammed Yolanda reef has a small wall coming from the surface that forms a plateau from 12 to 20m. Many small pinnacles with colourful soft corals and abundant marine life can be found on the plateau. The ship Yolanda crashed on the reef in the 1980's and lay on its side until a storm pushed it over the edge and down to 180m. Some remains of the ship and its cargo still lie in shallow water.

Yolanda carried toilets, bath tubs and sinks, all now encrusted with corals and home to Blue Spotted Stingrays, Scorpion and Stone Fish, Giant Morays and the resident Napoleon Wrasse.

Straits of Tiran

The Straits of Tiran offer spectacular diving. The Straits extend from Ras Ghamila on the mainland, to Jackson Reef.

They are most famous for 4 offshore reefs named after the 19th Century British cartographers Gordon, Thomas, Woodhouse and Jackson.

Water funneling through the Straits can cause strong currents, leading to exciting drift dives. A huge variety of coral and marine life thrive in the nutrient-rich water.

Gordon reef

Famous for the stranded wreck Louilla this is the largest reef in diameter of all the reefs in the Straits. There is a shallow sandy area close to the reef with Blue Spotted Sting Rays, Cornet Fish, schooling Goat Fish and baby Napoleons. Next to this spot is a plateau of hard coral with schools of reef fish, such as Banner Fish, Butterfly Fish and Parrot Fish. The plateau ends in a drop off where divers may spot magnificent creatures, such as Manta Rays, Eagle Rays, Potato Groupers and often White Tip Sharks passing by.
