

Fulidhoo Island, Vaavu Atoll, Maldives Dive & Relax in Fulidhoo

Diving in Vaavu Atoll is all about getting out to the channel where the currents are strong and attracting big fish! We're talking sharks, sharks, sharks! Nearby channels - the entrances and exits to the atoll - provide great current, and this attracts large numbers of reef sharks and other pelagics. As well as an abundance of sharks, Vaavu Atoll is home to a real variety of reef life and from May to December there is a chance to see feeding manta rays not far from the island.

But keep in mind, there is a difference between diving inside the atoll and outside the atoll. The corals have taken a hit during the recent El Nino, and are not in great shape inside the atoll. If you are certified as an Open Water diver, the dive center can (based on availability) take you through the theory of the PADI Adventure Deep Dive, which should let you dive the channels comfortably and give you the experience of the big blue dive sites. This is of course optional for you, and down to the instructor to decide if you are ready to dive the big sites.

Besides the great channel dives, we need to stress the amazing night dive at Alimatha. This dive is simply incredible, and a must do when the weather permits it. (Go google it!)

Fulidhoo Island, Vaavu Atoll, Maldives Dive & Relax in Fulidhoo

Location

Fulidhoo sits on the northern edge of Vaavu Atoll and lies just a few hours away from the equator. At 700m long and 200m wide, it's not much more than a sliver of sand in the vast ocean. Yet thanks to the availability of fresh water, local vegetation and the bountiful sea, its remote community has thrived for centuries. Arriving on the island, you will quickly feel how your pace slows down as you get lullabyed into island life. There are a few cafés on this small island, and a beautiful bikini beach in a quiet lagoon, but besides that... there is not much else than lots of green vegetation and white sand. Oh, and the cool fruitbats in the trees, the stingrays feeding around the little jetty in the evening, the friendly people living on the island, their drumming nights and of course the ridiculously blue and warm water surrounding the island.

Your Guesthouse

Seena Inn was newly built in 2017 and is located just next to the local school and of course, the beach. (It's all one big beach). The guesthouse has a kitchen that serves a simple breakfast in the morning (included).

Your room

The lovely rooms all come with double or twin beds. A third bed can be added for families or for groups of 3. The rooms all have A/C, a fan and hot water in the private bathrooms. The rooms are spacious, light and cozy, with a small private balcony.

Fulidhoo Island, Vaavu Atoll, Maldives Dive & Relax in Fulidhoo

This is only a selection of the many dive sites accessible from this particular destination. The daily diving is dictated by the safety of conditions and the environment.

Vaavu Atoll is the most famous place to find nurse sharks in the country - two nearby dive sites offer the chance to dive with dozens of them - all throughout the year! Best dived at night, this is an experience that should be on every diver's bucket list. The night dive with the nurse sharks is not included in the package, but can be added and upgraded to on location for an extra fee.

Alimatha Night Dive

Alimatha is one of the Maldives most famous and exciting spots for a night dive with dozens of nurse sharks. Close to a resort island where long ago, they used to dump their food waste, the nurse sharks still associate the sound of the boat engines with food. The sharks are extremely inquisitive and divers can get very close to them. With a maximum depth of 20m, this dive can be enjoyed by open water and advanced divers alike.

Miyaru Kandu (Shark Channel)

Best dived from December to April, this channel dive is for advanced divers looking for some high adrenaline diving with large numbers of grey reef and white tip reef sharks. Current can be very strong here, so this is for divers with experience, but even divers who've dived all over the world are blown away by this dive.

Fulidhoo Caves

On the channel side of Fulidhoo, these deep overhangs are covered in soft corals, which are absolutely stunning! Nurse sharks can sometimes be spotted sleeping in the caves, and at night, the colours are out of this world!

Kunaavashi Kandu

This channel has it all! Stunning soft corals, abundant fish life, sharks and schooling fish. As it is on the western edge of the atoll, this dive site is excellent during low season.

Faru Kolhu

This dive site is 5 minutes from Fulidhoo and is always full of surprises. We've seen sailfish here, gigantic schools of tuna and barracuda, sharks, Napoleon wrasse, turtles – you never know what you might see!

Transfer

Fulidhoo feels remote, but it's actually surprisingly easy to get to. It's a far flung desert island in a convenient location! Situated just south of South Male Atoll, on the northern perimeter of Vaavu Atoll, there are very few resorts in the area, which means that dive sites are often completely deserted and boat traffic is considerably less than in the Male atolls. Despite this, it only takes just over an hour to get here from the capital. There is also a ferry connection between Fulidhoo and Maafushi Island.

Upon booking, the dive center will be notified regarding your arrival date. Please make sure you contact the dive center with your flight information in order for them to arrange your transfer accordingly! You have the option of travelling by public ferry which departs three times a week, or by daily speedboat (except Fridays).

10 days prior to your trip, you and the dive center will receive an e-mail reminder. If you have not contacted the dive center yet, this is a good time to do so!

You can find all the contact details for the dive center on your voucher.
