This is only a selection of the many dive sites represented on this particular destination. The diving is dictated by the safeness of the environment.

Koh Sawang

Koh Sawang offers a pristine dive experience, with its shallows featuring an immaculate hard coral reef and the depths showcasing towering gorgonians and a dazzling array of both hard and soft corals. The site's signature pinnacles, blanketed in vibrant hues of purple, orange, white, and pink, are an extraordinary sight, with the iconic Christmas Tree Pinnacle standing as the crown jewel. Schools of trevallies, snappers, fusiliers, and damsels dance around you in shimmering waves, while lionfish, scorpionfish, and the ever-curious clownfish add to the excitement. For those with a keen eye, the macro life - nudibranchs and shrimp - offer endless fascination. This site is a haven for underwater photographers and an ideal location for specialty courses such as fish identification, deep diver, or advanced certifications.

Stonehenge

One of our most cherished dive sites, Stonehenge is a treasure trove for underwater photographers, despite the occasional strong currents. The currents, however, lend a sense of adventure, and there are always sheltered spots where you can pause and search for delightful details—such as tiny crabs and gobies tucked along the whip corals or the elusive ornate ghost pipefish. Drifting along with the current unveils a stunning underwater tapestry of magnificent gorgonian fans, and a vibrant panorama of purple, white, and pink soft corals, interspersed with radiant blue tunicates. The towering boulders that lend this site its name stand as silent sentinels, often accompanied by the graceful presence of a leopard shark circling in their midst.

Koh Lancha

There are several ways to dive this island but conditions permitting entry at the SW corner and a look around for fish traps makes a nice start. Stay around the edge of the boulders looking for barracuda hunting above. There are usually large shoals of bait fish here. At the same time you should be checking for rays. Turn the corner to find a plateau of rocks who are great for poking around for nurse shark and the occasional blacktip. Then some sand for rays and finally a shallow hard coral garden for a long swimming safety stop.

Conditions:

Visibility

Inside islands 10 - 20 meters
Outside islands 20 - 30 meters

Water temperature

27 - 29 degrees

Surface temperature

Depending on the wind but generally 30+ degrees

Current

Can be strong during full & black moon. But this is feeding lots of fish. There are always protected bays to find shelter.

Special marinelife

Mantas, devil rays, whale sharks, leopard sharks, schooling trevally and barracuda all depending on dive sites and the season, macro is good too!

Hin Son

Is a beautiful and very large multi level coral plateau. One of the very special ones where you can actually see all 5 colors of soft corals. It's a very scenic dive site with excellent macro life scattered out between the corals. Definitely worth a visit.
